

FLUOROSCOPY

Fluoroscopy involves utilization of low dose x-rays to make nerve blocks, epidurals, facet injections or other treatments more precise. This is used to target specific pain-generating problems such as a herniated/bulging disc, scar tissue, arthritis, spurs, spinal stenosis, or narrowing of nerve passages. C-Arm Fluoroscopy is used to make treatments longer lasting and more effective, and is sometimes used to diagnose painful conditions. Our physicians are on call twenty-four hours a day. If you have a problem, please contact Headache and Pain Center.
